Caution

This valve is designed to be used upstream of pressure relief valves in accordance with CFR Title 49, Part 192, Paragraph 192.99(H). As such, it should be used only by utility companies. The locking feature presents a potentially hazardous situation in that the valve may be difficult or impossible to shut off in emergency situations. Thus creating a risk of explosion and personal injury, this valve should not be put into residential use or in other than specified application.

DO NOT REMOVE THIS TAG.
